Dear all!

There is possibility that someone makes fake tide of IP addresses, just to hide his own. If the list is long enough, that IP could be even not logged. If the packets are "syn", IPs you answer don't exist, you have syn flood and death of the server. However, only total idiot would make such kind of attack. Everybody knows he is trying something. Suspect "script kid". Little joke with your server and you have a lot of job to do.

Just be aware not to open new gate for another kind of attack. Human is the wickiest part of chain.

Best regards

ZK
