

Re: [Full-Disclosure] Computer Sabotage by Microsoft

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Mailing-Lists/Full-Disclosure/2003-09/0550.html>

From: Peter van den Heuvel (peter_at_bank-connect.com)

Date: 09/11/03

To: full-disclosure@lists.netsys.com

Date: Thu, 11 Sep 2003 23:24:44 +0200

> Honestly, I still can't follow you on this route. I wouldn't purchase > the XBOX first place because MS intention with it is well-known. If you > repair these "defects" and make it even more successful (because of > this) in the marketplace – is that really good? Wouldn't it be better to > make it an economic failure so that vendors see this is the wrong > approach (as the music industry now slowly learns)?

This might be a bit besides the point. The post was like:

"This happened!". "Is that illegal?".

If by any chance it would really BE illegal, that would be highly significant from many perspectives. It could very well set precedents for many other products and "suppliers".

So, if anybody is knowledgeable in the area...

Peter

Full-Disclosure – We believe in it.

Charter: <http://lists.netsys.com/full-disclosure-charter.html>