

Full-Disclosure: Re: [Full-Disclosure] Re: I have fixes for the Geeklog vulnerabilities

Re: [Full-Disclosure] Re: I have fixes for the Geeklog vulnerabilities

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Mailing-Lists/Full-Disclosure/2003-10/0539.html>

---

From: John Sage (jsage\_at\_finchhaven.com)

Date: 10/09/03

To: full-disclosure@lists.netsys.com

Date: Thu, 9 Oct 2003 07:44:28 -0700

uh..

On Tue, Oct 07, 2003 at 02:05:36AM +0530, morning_wood wrote:

> > "Any security disclosure is good..."
> > >A wonderfully naive attitude.
> > >Ever hear of lying? Disinformation? Libel? FUD?
> > >Or simply of someone being wrong?
> > >"Disclosure" without any technical evidence is gossip at best.
> > >Unfortunately, there are some who will believe almost anything they > > >read.
>
> I dont agree about false items being posted...

nah.. you're right.. never happens!

> get mature and quit nitpickin'

Nitpicking, yeah, why should we worry about the validity of something posted to a mail list, particularly when so many people hide behind a hotmail or yahoo! address. Certainly they're the most reliable and authoritative.

And remember, when in doubt:

"I read it on the Internet. It must be true."

– John

--

"You are in a twisty maze of weblogs, all alike."

-

John Sage: InfoSec Groupie

-

ABCD, EFGH, IJKL, EmEnOh, Pplus+, Mminus-

-

ATTENTION: this entire message is privileged communication, intended for the sole use of its recipients only. If you read it even though

Re: [Full-Disclosure] Re: I have fixes for the Geeklog vulnerabilities

Full-Disclosure: Re: [Full-Disclosure] Re: I have fixes for the Geeklog vulnerabilities

you know you aren't supposed to, you're a poopy-head.

---

Full-Disclosure - We believe in it.

Charter: <http://lists.netsys.com/full-disclosure-charter.html>