List,

Some time ago I remember that someone posted a PoC of a small site that had a really nice looking flash animation that "performed a virus scan" and after the "virus scan" was finished, the user was prompted for a "Download virus fix?" question. After that, of course, a file is sent to the user and he got infected with some malware. Right now I'm performing a penetration test, and I would like to target some of the users of the corporate LAN, so I think this approach is the best in order to penetrate to the LAN.

I searched google but failed to find the URL, could someone send it to me ? Thanks!

Cheers,
