

Re: john the ripper

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Mailing-Lists/securityfocus/pen-test/2003-12/0035.html>

From: Giacomo (badgiaco_at_supereva.it)

Date: 12/04/03

Date: Thu, 04 Dec 2003 12:20:35 +0100

To: fbr <fbr@14x.net>

fbr wrote:

>The following benchmarks are all "FreeBSD MD5 [32/32]" tests done with john.

>

>Intel(R) Pentium(R) 4 CPU 3.20GHz

>5903 c/s real, 5903 c/s virtual

>

>Intel(R) Pentium(R) 4 CPU 2.40GHz

>4094 c/s real, 4355 c/s virtual

>

>Pentium III (Coppermine)

>2455 c/s real, 2455 c/s virtual

>

>Can anyone provide any Athlon benchmarks?

>

>-Forrest

>

>On Tuesday 02 December 2003 04:52 am, Giacomo wrote:

>

>

>

I think that test isn't true, how It can know the speed to crack 2 or 8 character password ?

In my cpu athlon xp 2500 barton (1833mhz) john -test show me 5308c/s (real and virtual) but in the reality it is cracking at 3500c/s (incremental:All after days)

Giacomo
