

Re: Need help with remote user accessing my computer

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/alt.computer.security/2004-09/0547.html>

From: Peter Houppermans (haz.20.cheros_at_spamgourmet.com)

Date: 09/29/04

Date: Wed, 29 Sep 2004 15:26:19 +0100

"Andy in NJ" <SHORECOGS at COMCAST DOT NET> wrote:

- > I rent a remote game server. On my home computer, I use a program called
- > ServerWatch, which allows me to do certiantransparente kick players and
- > chat with the players in the game. Players used to be able to connect to
- > me with the ServerWatch client (this gives them access to certian features
- > of the ServerWatch program running on my computer).
- >
- > I am not sure what event caused them to no longer be able to connect, but
- > they get a Connection Timed Out message if they try connecting now.
- >
- > I completely disabled my firewall (Norton Firewall) and I disabled
- > Window's firewall. I did a complete reset of my cable modem in case
- > there's an internal firewall that was somehow activated (I don't have any
- > software to configure it as far as I know). I even reinstalled
- > ServerWatch. I do NOT have a router in place. I am running Windows XP Home
- > SP2.
- >
- > Can anyone offer some advice on what I might be doing wrong? Is there
- > another non-firewall security feature I am missing?

Start with the basics – is your system still visible from the Net or has your ISP change their network layout (you could be behind a firewall now)?

Assuming you get a dynamic IP address you might have either landed a new one (you get such an IP address on a time lease) or you could have been moved behind a firewall or transparent proxy.

--

Regards, /// Peter ///

haz.20.cheroschicken@spamgourmetcow.com
(remove animals from signature fist)