Common guys there is enough BS in the World! I would prefer to escape it here!

Colin, the problem with AIM, MSN ,etc is the ability to download files which many IT security personnel do not like. This is why many companies choose to block AIM, MSN, etc.

What do you mean, skip the login screen? Do you mean skip that stupid ad pop up? Or do you mean have the program login automatically for you. Or do you mean do something your are not supposed to do?
