I would appreciate feedback on the plausibility of bringing in a line, independent of the corporate network, so we can fully participate in the internet retail experience.

Your account department could sit behind its own firewall and your other departments could share services – if it's done right, the firewall will not hinder accounting while blocking the rest of the company from compromising accounting.

All of the security functions are good, but, it sounds like you have a lot of idiots that don't understand this is COMPANY RESOURCES and COMPANY NETWORK and want to do what the company has not permitted – when at work don't do anything except work.
