Thanks for all the replies, guys. I really appreciate the help. I've posted other questions in other groups (linux and samba) and I got very little to no response. I assumed that usenet was not what it used to be when I was reading it every day (10 years ago). Back about 2 weeks ago, I fired up the newsreaders for the first time in about 5-6 years and with so little response, I thought maybe webpages and search engines killed usenet in the years that had passed.

gord..
