

Re: OpenSSH 3.2.3p1 and AFS-Tokenpassing

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/comp.security.ssh/2002-05/0415.html>

From: Richard E. Silverman (slade@shore.net)

Date: 05/29/02

From: slade@shore.net (Richard E. Silverman)

Date: 29 May 2002 13:07:40 -0400

>>>> "AD" == Andreas Donath <adonut@aei-potsdam.mpg.de> writes:

AD> I read in earlier postings that ssh protocol version 2 is not AD> supporting token passing/afs anymore but those features are still AD> well described in the man pages of sshd. And even if I try to AD> connect with a client in protocol version 1 mode nothing happens.

% man ssh

...

AFSTokenPassing

Specifies whether to pass AFS tokens to remote host. The argument to this keyword must be ``yes" or ``no". This option applies to protocol version 1 only.

...

--

Richard Silverman

slade@shore.net

- Next message: Igor B: "ssh3.1.2 and ssh-keygen question"
- Previous message: Andreas Donath: "OpenSSH 3.2.3p1 and AFS-Tokenpassing"
- In reply to: Andreas Donath: "OpenSSH 3.2.3p1 and AFS-Tokenpassing"
- Messages sorted by: [\[date \]](#) [\[thread \]](#) [\[subject \]](#) [\[author \]](#) [\[attachment \]](#)