

comp.security.ssh: Privilege separation user "sshd" does not exist

Privilege separation user "sshd" does not exist

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/comp.security.ssh/2002-06/0462.html>

From: Luicas (nospam@nomail.com)

Date: 06/28/02

From: "Luicas" <nospam@nomail.com>
Date: Fri, 28 Jun 2002 07:33:23 +0300

I have Slackware 8.1 installed and OpenSSH with it. Well, it needed upgrading so i downloaded version 3.4.

./configure ... OK

make ... tons of WARNING: pointer of type 'void*' used in arithmetic.

make install ... ERROR: Privilege separation user "sshd" does not exist

Are the warnings something to be coserned of?

And what is this separation user?

- Next message: toylet: "Re: solaris/gcc3.1/openssh3.x"
- Previous message: Patrick Lamb: "Re: Privilege separation user \(OpenSSH 3.4\) install prob."
- Next in thread: Gustaf Erikson: "Re: Privilege separation user "sshd" does not exist"
- Reply: Gustaf Erikson: "Re: Privilege separation user "sshd" does not exist"
- Messages sorted by: [\[date \]](#) [\[thread \]](#) [\[subject \]](#) [\[author \]](#) [\[attachment \]](#)