

comp.security.ssh: Re: ssh with no encryption ?

Re: ssh with no encryption ?

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/comp.security.ssh/2003-02/0270.html>

From: John Cochran (jdc@smof.fiawol.org)

Date: 02/21/03

From: jdc@smof.fiawol.org (John Cochran)
Date: Fri, 21 Feb 2003 16:45:35 +0000 (UTC)

In article <Pine.NEB.4.51.0302211507170.3997@vjv.bofcz.se>, Florence HENRY <Florence.Henry@obspm.fr> wrote:

>Hello,

>

>due to the security policy of my institute, I cannot use ssh when its >encrypted.

>

>But I need to login as root on a distant machine, and I don't want its >password to pass on the network.

<snip...>

I don't know about doing what you want using SSH, but have you considered using one-time passwords for root using skey?