

Re: FTP over SSL (explicit enc) – command line

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/comp.security.ssh/2003-03/0367.html>

From: bernhard (bz@datenkueche.com)

Date: 03/28/03

From: bz@datenkueche.com (bernhard)

Date: 27 Mar 2003 22:43:43 -0800 slade@shore.net (Richard E. Silverman) wrote in message news:<m111y0sslhg.fsf@syrinx.oankali.net>...

> >>>> "BZ" == bernhard <bz@datenkueche.com> writes:

>

> BZ> hi all I am looking for a command line sftp client that is able to

> BZ> connect to a ftp server that provides FTP over SSL (explicit > BZ> encryption).

>

> BZ> FileZilla supports that protocol, but I need a command line tool

> BZ> that runs every day automaticaly started by an other process.

>

> BZ> psftp has a nice command line interface that whould be ok, but it

> BZ> does not support "FTP over SSL (explicit encryption)" – or I don't

> BZ> know how to use it.

>

> sftp/SSH and FTP/SSL are entirely different protocols; they have nothing > to do with one another. Unless you also need sftp in addition to FTP/SSL

> (which is not implied in your email), you are not looking for an "sftp client."

Thanks a lot for this very good description.

But I still don't know how I can solve this problem.

Is there a program in the putty family that can help me with this task?

Or is there simply NO command line software available that can do that?

Bernhard