

Re: Another scp passwordless question for Linux boxes

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/comp.security.ssh/2003-05/0425.html>

---

From: tyler (tyler_at_hudakville.com)

Date: 05/31/03

Date: Sat, 31 May 2003 00:56:02 GMT

Two questions:

1. Did you put any security around the keys? (no-pty, etc)
2. What happens when you run scp with -v or -vv?

Tyler

On Sat, 31 May 2003 00:01:03 +0100, "Avis Merrihead"

<merrionavid@hotmail.com> wrote:

>I have 2 boxes, both running a flavour of linux and both running a flavour >of openSSH 3.x
>
>I created rsa keys and set the authorized_key on both boxes, it looks good >as it flies through but just as it connects it comes back saying >xxx.xxx.xxx.xxx connection closed
>
>I tried from both sides
>
>scp -r -p user@123.123.123.123:/path/to/files /path/to/files
>
>Connection closed by 123.123.123.123
>lost connection
>
>any ideas?
>
>Thanks
>
>