

comp.security.ssh: Re: How to save the output from the scp command's progress meter?

Re: How to save the output from the scp command's progress meter?

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/comp.security.ssh/2003-12/0168.html>

---

From: Michael Heiming (michael+USENET_at_www.heiming.de)

Date: 12/20/03

Date: Sat, 20 Dec 2003 22:54:24 +0100

Niko Sokka <niko.sokka@fmi.fi> wrote:

> How can I capture the output from the scp command's progress meter and > save it to a file so that I can have a record of the progress over a > period of time? I would like to do the trick in UNIX batch job.

```
ssh localhost -t scp ~/filename remotehost:~ >logfile 2>&1
```

Of course this assumes public key authentication is working.

--

Michael Heiming

Remove +SIGNS and www. if you expect an answer, sorry for inconvenience, but I get tons of SPAM