I have used vnc in the past to access my home computer from work, but now they have blocked vnc port from work. I am planning to use vnc through SSH.

I read about SSH (on google) and installed free (non-commerical) ssh server from ssh.com on my home machine.

Now when I use ssh client from work to login to server it first gave me the public key of the server but then asked me for a password and user id.

Can anyone tell me how to create a user id on home ssh server?

Is there a more user friendly ssh server available for free on the web?

Thanks
