

Re: Manually generating Interop assembly failing.....

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/microsoft.public.dotnet.security/2004-05/0286.html>

From: Nicholas Paldino [.NET/C# MVP] (mvp_at_spam.guard.caspershouse.com)

Date: 05/26/04

Date: Wed, 26 May 2004 09:17:56 -0400

Ollie,

Is there a need to delay sign the interop assembly? Can you just sign it outright?

--

```
    - Nicholas Paldino [.NET/C# MVP]
    - mvp@spam.guard.caspershouse.com
"Ollie" <ollie_riches@hotmail.com> wrote in message
news:uZIxffwQEHA.3140@tk2msftngp13.phx.gbl...
> I am trying to generate a strong name assembly from the unmanaged DLL for > the COM + 1.0 Admin Type Library located in the > C:\WINDOWS\system32\Com\comadmin.dll, but when I run the following command > it fails....
>
> C:\work\BillAnalyser\Bin>tlbimp.exe comadmin.dll /delaysign
> /publickey:C:\work\key\billanalyser.snk /out:Fb.Interop.ComAdmin.dll
>
>
> It fails saying 'TlbImp error:
System.Runtime.InteropServices.COMException - > StrongName APIs could not locate a matching CSP.'
>
> Anyone got any ideas why as this is driving me crazy....
>
> Cheers in advance
>
> Ollie
>
>
```