Your situation doesn't seem related next to the fact that your webserver crashed for some reason. What do you run on your webserver – static HTM, ASP pages, COM components, third party ISAPI, etc? And yes, restarting webserver is the only way to address a crashed webserver.

HI Michael and Lei,

I also encounter such these problems in my IIS4.0. It gives Dr Watson error on Inetinfo.exe. Then i have to start WWW Publishing service manually, however, sometimes fails, saying that the service could not be started. Final attempt is that i have to reset my web server.

Please advise

rgds,

Hasan
