Greetings,

I had a hardware malfunction in an old web server. I restored the web pages to an interim server because my new web server had a different tape drive. Now that I have copied the folders and web pages, my forms will not run.

I set up frontpage 2002 server extension and recalculated the web pages. I also elected to tighten security.

I need the forms to run, but do not want to give permissions that will allow security compromise. Where can I find out what permissions I need to give to my folders?

Thank you.

Hazel
