Hi I have been trying to get my computer back from a hijacking i'm guessing cause I can bootup the computer & surf the internet for about 10 min. before it will stop surfing & put up a can no display page ...So i've been reading in this group for things to try & i've tried the spysweeper & was wondering if just the scanner is free & you have to purchase the removal tool or is there a free one available?.....It found 14 infection but i'm not able to remove them & i'm not positive if that will take care of all my problems if they where removed but i'm sure it would help but I don't have $40.00 to spend for every program that comes down the pike that'll clean something that another won't! Help please my puter has been messed up for 4 weeks & I hate to lose all my programs by formating the hard drive I bought the puter used off ebay & don't have the cd's to put the programs back on it & just found out the home made backup cd of the windows xp pro that came with it don't match the key # that was givin for it!
