How do I go about setting up pc-cillin internet security 2005 with norton anti-virus 2005. I'd like to have a firewall with some additional anti-virus protection backup but pc-cillin is telling me I have to uninstall my norton. If I disable the bloodhound technology or disable the whole thing and just run it when enabled, maybe that will work. I don't know. There's got to be some way to get them to work harmoniously on the same computer with out having to install on all the time. Don't want to get in over my head so I thought I'd ask and see if anybody has run these two programs together. If anybody knows anything please let me know. Thanks.
