

Re: David, I would like to run your Multi-AV program but it does not run

Re: David, I would like to run your Multi-AV program but it does not run

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/microsoft.public.security.virus/2006-10/msg00129.html>

- From: "Dan W." <spamyou@xxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Thu, 05 Oct 2006 05:20:49 -0600
-

David H. Lipman wrote:

From: "Dan W." <spamyou@xxxxxxxx>

| I imagine my computer is clean. I recently posted my Hijack This logs
| on the Internet and I wanted to scan on the 98 Second Edition side just
| out of curiosity. Here is the web page if you want to see my Hijack
| This Logs from 98 Second Edition and XP Professional. It is at bleeping
| computer and a nice guy was helping me. I posted it there at the
| suggestion of Silj and I was fairly sure everything was all right but
| did it as a precaution since Zone Alarm Professional on the 98 Second
| Edition side had picked up one instance of adware in my computer a while
| back in the antispware component.
|

Thye URL is... ?

Whoops, my bad --- that is what happens with working on numerous postings late at night --- grin

<http://www.bleepingcomputer.com/forums/topic61044.html>

It is from August but it has both my HiJack This history from 98 Second Edition side and XP Professional side. I had not started to use Windows Vista Ultimate at this point. The HiJack This Logs should be fairly accurate since the only issue I have had since then was the false exploit code error associated with the same issue as PCR had in the 98 general newsgroup. Actually, it is labeled as 04155768.FIL in the quarantine vault of AVG.

By the way, David please let me know if there is any reason to reopen this thread and I will let D-Trojanator know and thanks for looking at the HiJack This Logs in your busy time. I greatly appreciate it.

Re: David, I would like to run your Multi-AV program but it does not run

Re: David, I would like to run your Multi-AV program but it does not run

Dan W.

Computer User

.