

Re: "Visual Basic Scripting Support" message

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/microsoft.public.security/2003-03/2217.html>

From: Karl Levinson [x y] mvp (levinson_k@excite.com)

Date: 03/27/03

From: "Karl Levinson [x y] mvp" <levinson_k@excite.com>

Date: Thu, 27 Mar 2003 15:46:57 -0500

Either one of you might call Microsoft tech support at the numbers listed at www.microsoft.com/support. This call is free per the info on their web site [specify at the start of the call that this problem is caused by their patch]. This may get you a quicker solution, because Microsoft may not be able to reproduce the problem to see the problem, if it does not happen on all computers.

"GregE" <gstark@mail.ocis.net> wrote in message news:055e01c2f49c$b5be0540$3001280a@phx.gbl...
> The Latest update for Jscript version 5.1 from MS win98 > update page will screw up your ability to do any > further updates. I just discovered this today and > had to restore a prev. registry, thanks for scanreg.
> What happens after installing the update, go back to scan > for updates and the screen just sits there at 0% forever.
> The only quikfix is to restore a prev. registry.
> So before you try this update, backup your registry!!!
> Good luck, Hope MS fixes it.
> GregE

>

>

>

> >-----Original Message-----

> >After completing critical updates I get the message: "To > >display this page correctly, you need to download and > >install the following components: Visual Basic Scripting

> >Support."

> >

> >Upon trying to download the component I get the message:

> >The component cannot be downloaded at this time.

> >

> >This blocks access to some sites as a result. How do I > >fix this problem?

> >

> >Thanks,

> >Dan MacGregor

microsoft.public.security: Re: "Visual Basic Scripting Support" message

> >
> >