

Re: decrypting files

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/microsoft.public.security/2004-03/1475.html>

---

From: Jupiter Jones [MVP] (jones\_jupiter\_at\_hotnomail.com)

Date: 03/21/04

Date: Sun, 21 Mar 2004 13:49:15 -0700

Anne;

> From what you say the files are not encrypted and you simply need to Take Ownership, #7 on this link:

<http://www3.telus.net/dandemar/ADsecurity.htm>

--

Jupiter Jones [MVP]

<http://www3.telus.net/dandemar/>

"Anne Verner" <anonymous@discussions.microsoft.com> wrote in message news:ABB23DB7-5E30-4316-9DA1-69F10F14F4C9@microsoft.com...

> I had a problem with my computer and used the system recovery cd to reinstall windows xp home without formatting my files.

>

> After that was done I could no longer access my old files because they were set to private before so now I get the message "access denied whenever i try to access any of my files"

> Is there a way to access them again or is it lost ?

>

> thanks