I got to know from a friend that I was shown signing into MSN Messenger this morning around 7:05 to & &:20 (IST) and then going offline. Where as I was not where near my PC nor have I signed into MSN Messenger for a long time now. I fear this person also can access my Hotmail too having my password. Please help. Is there any way I can know who has been signing in through a log or something that is maintained centrally by MSN? I have changed my password now. Please help!!!!!!!!!!!!!!
