

Re: Password

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/microsoft.public.security/2005-09/0391.html>

From: Steven L Umbach (n9rou_at_nospam-comcast.net)

Date: 09/14/05

Date: Tue, 13 Sep 2005 17:36:10 -0500

I am not that familiar with MSN but check to see if they have a customer support email address at their website for the service you use that you can contact them at to find out how to proceed. --- Steve

"arletmiranda" <arletmiranda@discussions.microsoft.com> wrote in message news:D51D4DE7-F52D-4C9A-B49D-3BA69E0E650B@microsoft.com...
> Ebay actually notified me to tell me this was happening and the closed my account while they investigate. But ebay ask that I change my msn password to be on the safe side. And when I go into msn I can not change it. I am having the problem with msn.
>
> "Steven L Umbach" wrote:
>
>> I hope you did not do this through a website link in the email you got as this is an attack commonly called phishing where someone tricks you into believing that you are changing your password at the official website but instead you are at a bogus website that looks just like the real deal but you end up giving the attacker your password and personal info. If it sounds like that happens to you need to get in touch with EBAY ASAP to tell them what happened and possibly cancel your account. My guess is that the attacker already logged on as you to Ebay and changed your user account password to lock you out while they do their thing. See the link below for more details on "phishing" AFTER you contact Ebay customer support.. --- Steve
>>
>> <http://www.microsoft.com/athome/security/email/phishing.msp>
>>
>>
>> "arletmiranda" <arletmiranda@discussions.microsoft.com> wrote in message news:2EEF12B2-4CD0-44C5-801E-AA4D51DD2A4A@microsoft.com...>> >I am trying to change my password and it will not let me do it. WHY?>> >The reason I need to change it is because it was recommended by Ebay.>> > Someone tried to use my ebay account and Ebay emailed me to let me know they microsoft.public.security: Re: Password

>> > also >> > suggested I change my email password and if I had problems to contact >> > msn.

>> > What can I do.

>>

>>

>>