

microsoft.public.security: Re: Where is the notification about IE zero day vulnerability?

Re: Where is the notification about IE zero day vulnerability?

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/microsoft.public.security/2005-11/0826.html>

From: Imhotep (imhotep_at_nospam.com)

Date: 11/28/05

Date: Mon, 28 Nov 2005 00:50:20 -0500

Shenan Stanley wrote:

> Imhotep wrote:

>> Again, then why are you wasting my time? I am just looking for the >> answer to a question I have stated how many times? Even to >> logically discuss it would be a good start...

>

> Then start it with facts..

> Links to back up your claim. References you have found in your passionate > search.

> Surely these must exist. Surely you must have them bookmarked. Surely > you must refer to them on occasion

> What is your fear of cut-n-paste?

Let me see, I posted a question (please reference the subject) and you want me to post a link to it???? Are you serious?

>

> *You side-step your own responsibility in creating this discussion. *Your > *discussion where you should provide the references supporting *your > ideas. Not anyone else. Why should someone do legwork to prove anything > in this discussion when you refuse do legwork to prove anything in this > discussion?

I posted a question which you have yet to answer. If you can't that is ok, but stop posting mindless counter-questions...

> You were presented in this and the other similar-discussions with simple > requests which you seemingly refuse to comply with simply because it is > easier to type "if you.."

Nope, just looking for a logical answer --- or logical insight --- both of which I am not getting from you...

Imhotep

Re: Where is the notification about IE zero day vulnerability?