

Re: Missing system 32 files on startup and sonic installer active

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/microsoft.public.security/2008-01/msg00017.html>

- From: "PA Bear" <PABearMVP@xxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Wed, 2 Jan 2008 18:45:29 -0500
-

See

<http://www.broadbandreports.com/forum/r19702820-Virtumonde-would-someone-please-shoot-these-guys>

~Robear Dyer (PA Bear)
MS MVP-Windows (IE, OE, Security, Shell/User)
AumHa VSOP & Admin <http://aumha.net>
DTS-L <http://dts-l.net/>

Ron H wrote:

Hi PA Bear, Is there any more to read on this ? Ron H (Defender)

"toerocket" wrote:

I have a dell laptop inspiron 630m running windowa XP
I think i may have a virus/hijacker, recently my anti virus went crazy and started deleting parts of normal files(Corel, sonic and others) it recognised as virus. I tried to do a system restore but it wouldn't work and the date of the available system restore is the date when the problems began. I don't want to run avg again until i find out what the problem is. I have dowloaded threatfire and run trend micro and mcaffee but it hasn't fixed anything.
I have tried to delete the files running in a loop telling me to put in a cd to instal the files such a sonic regards
Don