

Re: problems sp_adduser

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/microsoft.public.sqlserver.security/2003-05/0373.html>

From: Carlos A. (carlos.augusto_at_terra.com.co)

Date: 05/27/03

Date: Tue, 27 May 2003 05:31:30 -0700

Thank you Vishal

Carlos A.

>-----Original Message-----

>sp_addlogin:

>Members of sysadmin and securityadmin server roles can execute sp_addlogin >and no one else.

>sp_addrolemember:

>Members of the sysadmin server role and the db_owner fixed database role can >execute sp_addrolemember to add a member to fixed database roles. At the >same time role owners can execute sp_addrolemember to add a member to any >SQL Server role they own. Members of the db_securityadmin fixed database >role can add users to any user-defined role.

>

>Run sp_grantdbaccess instead of sp_adduser. Only members of the sysadmin >fixed server role, the db_accessadmin and db_owner fixed database roles can >execute sp_grantdbaccess

>

>--

>--Vishal

>"carlos A." <carlos.augusto@terra.com.co> wrote in message >news:2ab301c323d1$55522650$a101280a@phx.gbl...

>> Hi everybody.

>>

>> I have a user with permissions securityadmin and dbo on a >> specific database

>>

>> What additional permissions this user must have to be able >> to execute sp_addlogin and sp_addrolemember?.

>> without being sysadmin.

>

>

>.

>