

Re: Who installed

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/microsoft.public.sqlserver.security/2003-11/0354.html>

From: Dejan Sarka (dejan_please_reply_to_newsgroups.sarka_at_avtenta.si)

Date: 11/22/03

Date: Sat, 22 Nov 2003 17:05:06 +0100

Not an easy task for SQL Server. You can check the Sqlstp.log file in the Windows folder – it has username inside. But if somebody removed the file, you are out of luck. If you have Analysis Services installed, then check the local OLAP Administrators Windows group. By default, Setup puts only the user who is installing the Analysis Services in this group. If somebody added a user, you don't have a track anymore.

--

Dejan Sarka, SQL Server MVP

Please reply only to the newsgroups.

"Carlos Eduardo" <melodesouza@hotmail.com> wrote in message news:01ec01c3b060$fdca2be0$a301280a@phx.gbl...

> Hi

>

> Its possible to know who installed mssql server?Loggin

> name, machine

> TIA

>

> C.E.