

Re: Encrypt/Decrypt SQL Server 2005 data files

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/microsoft.public.sqlserver.security/2006-11/msg00147.html>

- From: "Mike C#" <xyz@xxxxxxx>
 - Date: Mon, 27 Nov 2006 00:41:00 -0500
-

"Robert Robinson" <robbiex@xxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
<news:uibht4IEHHA.3600@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>

We decided on the following to provide a reasonable level of protection.

First, computer access is limited by using the SecuriKey.

SQL database files are protected as follows:

Setup

1. The SQL databases to be protected are backed up and are then deleted from SQL Server.

Are you concerned that fragments of unencrypted data might be lying around on the storage device even after deletion? Just curious. Thanks.