

Re: How to globally change machine local admins

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/microsoft.public.win2000.security/2002-11/10950.html>

From: Joe Richards [MVP] (humorexpress@hotmail.com)

Date: 11/05/02

From: "Joe Richards [MVP]" <humorexpress@hotmail.com>

Date: Tue, 5 Nov 2002 09:56:59 -0500

You could script a freeware tool called lg on www.joeware.net to do this. Basically your script would loop through the machines in a list, enumerate the administrators group, parse out the entries and remove all of them except the ones you want to keep.

You could also do this with ADSI.

--

Joe Richards
www.joeware.net

"Max" <max@spamjam.com> wrote in message news:e8ko5NChCHA.2364@tkmsftngp08...

> For security reasons, we want to remove users from the local admin group on > workstations throughout our domain. Is there a utility available which can > change the machine local admins to a specified group, and remove those not > in this group?
>
> Thanks all.
>
>