

Setting and restricting user rights in W2k

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/microsoft.public.win2000.security/2002-11/11065.html>

From: Brian (bneil@callrci.com)

Date: 11/06/02

From: "Brian" <bneil@callrci.com>

Date: Wed, 6 Nov 2002 09:31:49 -0800

Hello,

I am trying to set up user accounts in my office. What I would like to do is set these accounts with very restricted rights. For example; screen savers and backgrounds must not be able to be set by the user. They must not be able to install applications or drivers. I know that I can set the restriction for the drivers in the local policies settings, but I am stumped on the other issues. Any help would be great.

Thank you