

Re: Time issue

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/microsoft.public.win2000.security/2003-02/0825.html>

---

From: AD (ajd777@hotmail.com)

Date: 02/13/03

From: "AD" <ajd777@hotmail.com>
Date: Thu, 13 Feb 2003 21:11:19 -0000

Hi Dan,

Download W32time.exe from MS FTP site.

<ftp://ftp.microsoft.com/reskit/y2kfix/x86/w32time/>

This is MS implementation of NTP and should integrate with windows 2000.
Does not require logon scripts or admin rights, instead it runs as a service. Be sure to read the supporting documentation.

thanks

AD

"Dan Moesch" <dmoesch@pic-online.com> wrote in message news:019801c2d2e0$d7f61090$a501280a@phx.gbl...

- > I am running native mode 2000 AD, with 100 W2K clients
- > and 70 NT workstation clients.
- > I need to get my 70 NT clients synched with my local time
- > server any ideas?
- > I currently have a net time command in the login script,
- > but that won't work since basic users don't have the
- > right (I would have to change this manually on each PC!).
- > My W2K PC's are ok since users have rights via my AD
- > policy.
- > Any input on this would be greatly appreciated, I don't
- > want to have to manually configure each PC's rights.
- >
- > Dan
- >