

microsoft.public.win2000.security: Re: Domain admin can't add workstation to the domain !?!?!!!!

Re: Domain admin can't add workstation to the domain !?!?!!!!

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/microsoft.public.win2000.security/2003-04/1259.html>

From: Phil (pmarg@SPAMACIDE.bellsouth.net)

Date: 04/18/03

From: Phil <pmarg@SPAMACIDE.bellsouth.net>

Date: Thu, 17 Apr 2003 22:58:41 GMT

What was the error message?

"Dennis Hartmann" <dennis.hartmann@gsa.gov> wrote in news:07cb01c304fa$221236e0$a401280a@phx.gbl:

> Hi all,
>
> I've ran into this problem before and could not figure out > why that is:
>
> I started to consult this company with AD already in > place. I added myself to the Domain Admin's group and > wanted to start migrating the Workgroup PC's to the > domain. I also created the same account (my credentials) > on each workstation prior to migrating. I clicked "join > domain" and supplied my credentials to add the workstation > to the domain. It did not allow me to add this > workstation. I had to supply the original domain admin > credentials (account: Administrator, password: xxxxx) in > order to get the box migrated. It seemed to me that my > credentials were not enough for the domain controller
> although I added myself to the domain admins group.
>
> Weird or what? Does anybody have an explanation to this?
> Thanks in advance
>

Re: Domain admin can't add workstation to the domain !?!?!!!!