

Re: administrator password recovery on w2k

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/microsoft.public.win2000.security/2003-07/2047.html>

From: Oli Restorick (oli_at_mvps.org)

Date: 07/28/03

Date: Mon, 28 Jul 2003 00:33:27 +0100

There are some good resources at the following URL.

<http://www.ultratech-llc.com/KB/?File=/rescue.txt>

Regards

Oli

"Eizu" <eixuian@hotmail.com> wrote in message
news:009d01c35463$a1f1a6d0$a301280a@phx.gbl...

> Recently, I gave someone the admin password to my computer
> because I foolishly neglected to set up any user accounts, > and I needed information off my computer from a remote > location. Upon returning home I discovered that they had > changed the password, effectively locking me out of my own > computer. I know I probably deserve it for being so > careless, but is there anyway to recover the password? I > ended up having to reinstall w2k so that I could finish
> some paperwork, but I was wondering if anyone had ideas > about how to fix this problem should it crop up again.