

Built In Admin account vs Created one

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/microsoft.public.win2000.security/2003-08/3390.html>

From: wutsitallabout (wutsitallabout_at_comcast.net)

Date: 08/31/03

Date: Sat, 30 Aug 2003 17:25:58 -0700

Can anyone out there please tell me if there is any difference between the Built in Administrator account versus one that is created and made a member of the admin group and only the admin group. It is a local account on a local machine (not logging on to a domain).

To put it yet another way, are all of the rights, privileges and behaviours the same for each?

Someone must know! If you claim that they do behave differently, can you please direct me to the source of the information. I need an official word on this. Not just opinions.
Thanks