

RE: Patch listing for MS products

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/microsoft.public.win2000.security/2005-03/0505.html>

From: Desmond Lee (mcp_at_donotspamplease.mars)

Date: 03/28/05

Date: Mon, 28 Mar 2005 11:37:07 -0800

A good place to start is:

<http://www.microsoft.com/technet/security/current.aspx>

Also, consider using SUS (or forthcoming WSUS) that allows you to setup an internal security patch management software. It works very well with Win 2000 SP3 / Win XP SP1 and above.

More info:

<http://www.microsoft.com/windowsserversystem/sus/default.msp>

Do let us know if this helps. Thanks!

"chip33az@netscape.net" wrote:

- > Does anyone know if there is a listing of the various patches for
- > products, what they are and what they replace (if anything)?
- >
- > I work for a company that does not use the automatic update and we are
- > trying to determine what patches are out there, and since we are
- > behind, what patches were overridden by another one.
- >
- > Thanks for any information.
- >
- >