

Re: Auto Login Logout

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/microsoft.public.win2000.security/2005-07/0381.html>

From: wrytat (wrytat_at_discussions.microsoft.com)

Date: 07/28/05

Date: Wed, 27 Jul 2005 18:10:02 -0700

Yes, I tried this method and it works. But the problem is it keeps logging on to the same account, even after I log out. I wish to make it such that when I log out, it won't log in again.

Actually, is there a way for me to help someone login with the account using command prompt? My main motive of this is like this. I want to log out all the users when I am doing a system backup, and help them log in again after backup.

Thank you.

"Miha Pihler [MVP]" wrote:

> This should help you with logon
>
> > > How to turn on automatic logon in Windows XP
> > > <http://support.microsoft.com/default.aspx?scid=kb;en-us:315231>
>
> There are some options with logout -- but you need to tell me under what > conditions users will be logged out?
>
> If I think as attacker, I would love your network. Even if I run into locked > computer all I need to do it restart it and I am logged in :-).
>
> --
> Mike
> Microsoft MVP - Windows Security
>
> "wrytat" <wrytat@discussions.microsoft.com> wrote in message
> news:8C7F7A98-53F4-4B5C-B99D-20FA95983072@microsoft.com...
> > Or is there a way to prevent it from auto logging on after logging off.
> > That
> > is, the system only login automatically after restarting the computer.
> > Thank
> > you.
> >
> > "wrytat" wrote:
> >

> >> What about logging on an account using command prompt? Is there such a > >> way?
> >> Thank you.
> >>
> >> "Miha Pihler [MVP]" wrote:
> >>
> >> > Hi,
> >> >
> >> > Auto Logon is something that I would have to advise against. Still if > >> > this > >> > is something you really want to do here is how.
> >> >
> >> > How to turn on automatic logon in Windows XP
> >> > <http://support.microsoft.com/default.aspx?scid=kb;en-us:315231>
> >> >
> >> > --
> >> > Mike
> >> > Microsoft MVP – Windows Security
> >> >
> >> > "wrytat" <wrytat@discussions.microsoft.com> wrote in message
> >> > news:72960E23-F9AB-4BE8-A9FB-154E054E0CB6@microsoft.com...
> >> > > My company's using a Windows 2000 server, and all our workstations > >> > > are > >> > > either > >> > > installed with Windows 98 or Windows XP. Is there any way to make a > >> > > user
> >> > > log
> >> > > out by itself? And also likewise, is there any method to make a user
> >> > > login
> >> > > by > >> > > itself? Perhaps writing command prompt or some script? Or configuring
> >> > > the > >> > > regedit? Thank you.
> >> >
> >> >
> >> >
>
>
>