

Re: Account locked out for no reason.....maybe!

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/microsoft.public.win2000.security/2005-08/0315.html>

---

From: jokes54321 (jokes54321_at_nospam.com)

Date: 08/26/05

Date: Fri, 26 Aug 2005 11:22:14 -0700

Did his password recently change?

<andrew.pennynospam@checkmyfile.com> wrote in message
news:1125071556.895234.210360@o13g2000cwo.googlegroups.com...
> Hello all!
>
> I hope this is in the right place!!
>
> we run a sbs2000 enviroment with a mix of win XP and win2000 PCs.
>
> When a XP user logs onto a Win 2000 PC and then trys to sign in to IIS > on a remote workgroup running windows 2000 server his local domain > account keeps getting locked out!
>
> I have tested that user ability to log on to the same remote pc from a
> XP machine and all is fine – ie he does not get locked out.
>
> SO the conclusion is that there must be some problem with the win 2000
> o/s.
>
> can anybody help me stop this from happening as he has to logged on to > the two pc several times a day and it is becoming very annoying having > to unlock him!!
>
> It has only just started happening in the last few days. he has been > using this setup for months with no trouble! so why has this started to > happen now?
>
> The remote IIS PC is behind a PC firewall, the PC is running win2003
> running ISA 2000.
>
> PLEASE help!!!
>
> ta
>
> Andrew

microsoft.public.win2000.security: Re: Account locked out for no reason.....maybe!

>