

Re: W2K Hardening

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/microsoft.public.win2000.security/2005-08/0326.html>

From: Miha Pihler [MVP] (mihap-news_at_atlantis.si)

Date: 08/28/05

Date: Sun, 28 Aug 2005 18:15:25 +0200

Hi,

You should be able to use

```
secedit /export /cfg config.inf
```

to export the policy from Windows 2000 computer. Take the inf file to another Windows 2000 computer and import it using

```
secedit /import /cfg config.cfg
```

option.

I hope this helps,

--

Mike

Microsoft MVP - Windows Security

"newbie" <newbie@discussions.microsoft.com> wrote in message news:267C28E1-6779-4308-B113-D746F0B195F5@microsoft.com...

> Hi,

>

> I have setup account, user rights, settings for log file, services and > registry for a standalone W2K machine

> using the manual way.

>

> How can I possibly export these settings to an .inf and apply them on > another machine?

>

> Thanks in advance