

Find security group usage

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/microsoft.public.win2000.security/2006-01/msg00127.html>

- From: christopher.b.moore@xxxxxxxxxx
 - Date: 19 Jan 2006 08:26:15 -0800
-

I'm trying to determine if a particular global security group is being used for access control anywhere on my network. Is there a tool or search method that can scan shares or data for security permissions and report where that particular group has access? My network is Windows 2003 native domain with 2000 and 2003 version member servers.

Thanks in advance,
Chris

-
- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ Re: Find security group usage
 - ◇ From: Thomas
 - ◆ Re: Find security group usage
 - ◇ From: Steven L Umbach
 - Prev by Date: Re: -- force clients to get time from the server --
 - Next by Date: How Do I Disable USB Storage Devices for one Group and Enable it for another?
 - Previous by thread: -- force clients to get time from the server --
 - Next by thread: Re: Find security group usage
 - Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread