

Re: Smartcard Logon very slow

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/microsoft.public.windows.server.security/2004-09/0362.html>

From: Tim Holman \ (MVP – Security) (tim_holman_at_hotmail.com)

Date: 09/27/04

Date: Mon, 27 Sep 2004 18:32:00 +0100

It's unlikely this is down to the SmartCards – have you checked out things like client MTU ?

"Denis Beuermann" <beuermann@rissoft.de> wrote in message news:#BW2XOioEHA.644@tk2msftngp13.phx.gbl...

> Hi NG,

>

> I have a big problem with home office users. I have implemented Smartcards > (eToken USB) for all users of the company. On local network all working > very fine (incl. logon) but when I connect over DSL line via RDP to a

> Windows Server 2003 TS the logon process is very, very slow. It take up to

> 60 sec. to logon to Server. If I logon to VPN Server via Smartcard

> (eToken),

> to a Windows Server 2003 too, the the logon is fast enough. Then I connect > over VPN to the TS but the same as I described before is happening. Very > slow Smartcard logon to TS Server. No error logs or bad events are logged.

> The logon screen is grey underlayed and nothing happend. After 60 sec. a

> LED

> on Smartcard (eToken USB) blinks and the logon finished successfully.

Anyone

> have an idea?

>

> Thanks

>

> Denis Beuermann

>

>