I have a request in with desktop support to run gpreresult on a few of the machines as well as have users test on another system. No one at my location is experiencing any issues so I am having to rely upon others to do the work. The sad part is desktop support does not know what secedit or gpreresult is :-(

On a few users that we had to exclude, running "secedit /refreshpolicy user_policy /enforce" did not work. They had to reboot and login to clear the settings.

I'll post the result as soon as I get the data.
