

Re: SMTP Security

Source: <http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/microsoft.public.windows.server.security/2005-02/0397.html>

---

From: Hairy One Kenobi (abuse_at_[127.0.0.1])

Date: 02/24/05

Date: Thu, 24 Feb 2005 09:37:36 GMT

"NoSpam" <me@here.com> wrote in message news:jr7Td.9006$i6.100851@nasal.pacific.net.au...

> Thanks Hairy One,

>

> Nice try, but I use this tool all of the time and the ini files, etc came > along too and got tweaked as required.

>

> This would also not explain why I can not telnet to my own port 25 but I can > telnet to my own port 80.

<Slaps head> must have been a long day when I replied...

Have you checked that you haven't picked-up a catch-all policy that is intended to prevent a zombied machine from sending spam?

Also, when telnetting, are you connecting to localhost, or the specific IP address?

H1K