Weird. I don't know if the computer is a member of a domain or not but if it is there might be more than one Group Policy managing those settings and it might help running rsop.msc on your TS server to see what Group Policies are being applied to the user. If you are logging on with a domain account then try logging on as a local administrator that is not a domain account.

If none of that applies or helps and you have another Windows 2003 Server or maybe even an XP Pro computer around that does not have the problem you could try exporting the registry keys for HKEY_CURRENT_USER\Software\Microsoft\Windows\CurrentVersion\Internet Settings\Zones\ and HKEY_LOCAL_MACHINE\Software\Microsoft\Windows\CurrentVersion\Internet Settings\Zones\ from a computer that does not have the problem and import into the registry of the problem server via .reg file starting with HKEY_CURRENT_USER\Software\Microsoft\Windows\CurrentVersion\Internet Settings\Zones\ being sure to backup those keys on the server first. ---
