I've noticed something...

Where can you get IIS without buying Windows 2000?

I'm already running Windows XP (Home Edition)...

Does IIS only come with the Pro edition of WinXP?

Or is there a place where you can download it?

Or is there anyway to make PWS (with my copy of Win98) work with WinXP?

After all WinXP is based on Win2K, so why doesn't it come with IIS? Or does it and those using the home edition not get it?

Somehow I think thats kinda unfair at how we cant get IIS (if you can only get it on WinXPro)

Thanks
