Windows XP works just like Windows NT, it does not lye on top of DOS like Win 9x did!!

You can still run the DOS prompt, but going into MS-DOS mode is a little bit more tricky.

To open command prompt, click Start, point to All Programs, point to Accessories, and then click Command Prompt.

But, running MS-DOS programs on XP has created problems for many people...obviously. The best way around this is to create a Win9x/XP dual boot, except dual boot wasn't made for this, so i advise against it!
