

"ghost" is typing on my XP machine

Source:

http://www.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/microsoft.public.windowsxp.security_admin/2002-07/4564.html

From: JO (reddam1@msn.com)

Date: 07/03/02

From: "JO" <reddam1@msn.com>

Date: Wed, 3 Jul 2002 06:34:30 -0700

>-----Original Message-----

>On a regular basis somebody or some program is sending >keystrokes to my machine. Whatever is being sent doesn't >make sense. it is stuff like "they may be a man of the >two". Before the characters appear a few underlined dots >show up then the words replace the underlined dots.
>I've enabled the firewall option that my Network card has >but that didn't help. I have Windows XP Professional >installed. Windows Messenger is installed but the typing >occurs even when Messenger is not running. Any ideas on >how to fix this would be very appreciated.

>.

>I am having the same problem however it started a couple of weeks ago. I was running Windows ME and I noticed that wherever there was a space for a message(e-mails,tracking block on UPS site,etc.) I got this scrolling of typed messages. They do not always make sense as if I am getting only one side of a conversation.I upgraded to XP and subscribed to McAfee Security Services and Firewall Plus.
This has not solved the problem. A man in my work place said I had been hacked and the person was using my ISP info. MSN was contacted and the tech guy said the same thing but told me to contact my vendor (as in the HP factory)!!? The MSN tech offered not other info or support.
A tech at Best Buy where I purchased my PC said it wasn't hacked but to bring it in for servicing.!!? I have been on the net since 1993 and have never been without a virus program and I have not had a problem. I do not have voice activation on my pc. Any confirmation as to being hacked and a solution.