When I enter services I can't start Remote Access Connection Manager. When I try properties the logon tab it is marked on the top instead of logon to this account like the rest of the services. I try to logon to NT Authority/Local Services but it asks for a password which is already typed and as I have seen in the other services has to be the same one, but I don't know where can I find the password or reconfigure this service to the default setting, because I can not use my dial up modem with out it, and i need it as a back up. Same happens with the Remote Access Automatic Connection Manager.
